AUSTRALIAN STANDARD CLASSIFICATION OF COUNTRIES FOR SOCIAL STATISTICS (ASCCSS), Issued October 1990

REVISION 1.03

Since the publication of the Australian Standard Classification of Countries for Social Statistics (ASCCSS) on October 16, 1990, world political change has necessitated a number of revisions to the ASCCSS. Revision 1.01, which was published concurrently with the ASCCSS, dealt with the unification of Germany, while Revision 1.02, issued on 1 April, 1992, dealt primarily with Australia's recognition of Croatia and Slovenia, previously part of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and the republics of the former USSR.

Recent political developments in Europe and Africa have resulted in the need for Revision 1.03 of the ASCCSS. A number of other minor amendments are also made at this stage as a matter of convenience.

THE FORMER YUGOSLAVIA

On 1 May, 1992, Australia formally recognised Bosnia-Herzegovina as an independent state and on 15 February, 1994, recognition was extended to the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia.

The ASCCSS was not amended immediately following the recognition of Bosnia-Herzegovina because political instability in the former Yugoslavia continued and further changes were thought likely. With the recent recognition of the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, the ABS considers that further delay in dealing with these matters is not justified.

The recognition of Bosnia-Herzegovina and the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia by the Australian government necessitates a number of amendments to the ASCCSS. These amendments, along with the other amendments outlined in this document, comprise Revision 1.03 of the classification and have been made using the methods outlined on pages 5 and 6 of the Explanatory Notes of the ASCCSS publication (Version 1.0).

The third level unit 2232, Yugoslavia (which consisted of the former Yugoslav Republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, and the two remaining former Yugoslav republics, Montenegro and Serbia) is deleted from Minor Group 22, Southern Europe. The now independent states of Bosnia-Herzegovina and the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia are added to Minor Group 22, Southern Europe, as separate third level units. These countries are allocated the codes 2221 and 2223, respectively. The two remaining republics of the former Yugoslavia, not currently recognised by Australia, are added as a single unit to Minor Group 22 with the name Former Yugoslav Republics of Serbia and Montenegro. This unit is allocated the code 2233.

It should be noted that the newly recognised Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia should be referred to by this title, or by the shortened version, FYROM, in all instances. The title "Macedonia", for instance, should not be used.

The revised structure of Minor Group 22, Southern Europe, is as follows:

22	Southern Europe
2201	Albania
2202	Andorra
2203	Cyprus
2204	Gibraltar
2205	Greece

2206	Holy See
2207	Italy
2208	Malta
2209	Portugal
2210	San Marino
2211	Spain
2221	Bosnia-Herzegovina
2222	Croatia
2223	Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia (FYROM)
2226	Slovenia
2233	Former Yugoslav Republics of Serbia and Montenegro

The code 2220 represents the 'Former Yugoslavia not further defined' and can be used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category. The code 2232, although not now appearing in the classification structure, can be used as a re-code for the sum of the three new country units (i.e. 2221, 2223, and 2233) and 2220 to facilitate the production of time series data relating to the period when the ASCCSS unit Yugoslavia comprised the former Yugoslav Republics of Bosnia-Herzegovina, Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia (i.e. the period between April 1992 and the release of this revision). Similarly, the code 2212, which originally represented the former Yugoslavia prior to the release of Revision 1.02 but which now no longer appears in the classification structure, can be used as a re-code for the sum of the five country units (i.e. 2221, 2222, 2223, 2226, and 2233) and 2220, the 'not further defined' code, to facilitate the production of time series data relating to the period when Yugoslavia comprised six constituent republics (i.e. prior to 1992). The term "Former Yugoslavia" should be used to refer to either of these entities in preference to "Yugoslavia".

As outlined on page 8 of the Explanatory Notes, the ASCCSS classification units have been assigned the 3-digit numeric country codes of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), to facilitate input processing of statistical collections. The ISO Maintenance Agency has allocated the code 070 to Bosnia-Herzegovina and has allocated the provisional code 807 to the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia. However, as it has not yet allocated a code to the remaining new country unit, the ABS has allocated the following code from the list of user-assigned codes made available by the ISO:

Former Yugoslav Republics of Serbia and Montenegro	997

Since Revision 1.02 was released, the ISO has allocated codes to Croatia and Slovenia. Users are encouraged to use these codes in preference to those specified in Revision 1.02. The ISO codes for these countries are as follows:

Croatia	191
Slovenia	705

The ABS allocated the code 992 to represent the 'Former Yugoslavia not further defined'. This is used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category. The code 993 can be used as a re-code for the sum of the three new country units (i.e. 2221 (070), 2223 (807), and 2233 (997)) and 992 to facilitate the production of time series data relating to the period when Yugoslavia comprised the former Yugoslav Republics of Bosnia-Herzegovina, Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia (i.e. the period between April 1992 and the release of this revision). Similarly, the code 890, which was the ISO code for the former Yugoslavia prior to the release of Revision 1.02, can be used as a re-code for the sum of the five country units (i.e. 2221 (070), 2222 (191), 2223 (807), 2226 (705), and 2233 (997)) and 992, the 'not further defined' code, to facilitate the production of time series data relating to the period when Yugoslavia comprised six constituent republics (i.e. prior to 1992).

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

On 31 December, 1992, the Czech and Slovak Federal Republic was formally dissolved. This followed a vote in the federal parliament on 25 November, 1992, which authorised the dissolution. On 1 January, 1993, the new independent states of the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic came into effect, and were formally recognised by Australia on that date.

The third level unit 2502, Czechoslovakia is deleted from Minor Group 25, Eastern Europe. The two new states comprising the former Czech and Slovak Federal Republic are added to Minor Group 25, Eastern Europe.

The revised structure of Minor Group 25, Eastern Europe, is as follows:

25   Eastern Europe

        2501   Bulgaria
        2503   Hungary
        2504   Poland
        2505   Romania
        2506   Czech Republic
        2507   Slovak Republic

The code 2502, although not now appearing in the classification structure, represents the 'Former Czechoslovakia not further defined' and can be used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category.

The code 2502 can also be used as a re-code for the sum of the two new countries and any vague responses to facilitate the production of time series data.

The ISO codes for the newly independent countries are as follows:

        Czech Republic   203
        Slovak Republic   703

The code 200, although not now appearing in the classification structure, represents the 'Former Czechoslovakia not further defined' and can be used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category.

The code 200 can also be used as a re-code for the sum of the two new countries and any vague responses to facilitate the production of time series data.

ETHIOPIA

Following the vote in favour of independence by the Eritrean people in a referendum held on 23-25 April, 1993, Australia formally recognised Eritrea as a sovereign state separate from Ethiopia.

The third level unit 9206, Ethiopia (which included Eritrea) is deleted from Minor Group 92, Southern and East Africa. The two states comprising the former Ethiopia are added to Minor Group 92, Southern and East Africa. The code for Ethiopia is changed as the 'new' Ethiopia is essentially a different unit following the separation of Eritrea.

The revised structure of Minor Group 92, Southern and East Africa, is as follows:

92   Southern and East Africa

        9201   Angola
        9202   Botswana
        9203   Burundi
        9204   Comoros (excluding Mayotte)
        9205   Djibouti
        9207   Kenya
        9208   Lesotho
        9209   Madagascar
        9210   Malawi
        9211   Mauritius
        9212   Mayotte
        9213   Mozambique
        9214   Namibia
        9215   Réunion
        9216   Rwanda
        9217   St Helena
        9218   Seychelles
        9219   Somalia
        9220   South Africa
        9221   Swaziland
        9222   Tanzania
        9223   Uganda
        9224   Zambia
        9225   Zimbabwe
        9226   Eritrea
        9227   Ethiopia

The code 9206, although not now appearing in the classification structure, represents the 'old' Ethiopia and can be used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category.

The code 9206 can also be used as a re-code for the sum of the two new countries and any vague responses to facilitate the production of time series data.

The ISO codes for the new country units are as follows:

        Eritrea   232
        Ethiopia   231

The code 230, although not now appearing in the classification structure, represents the 'old' Ethiopia and can be used to code vague responses in statistical collections which cannot be coded to any other category.

The code 230 can also be used as a re-code for the sum of the two new countries to facilitate the production of time series data.

AUSTRALIAN TERRITORIES

Following amendments to Section 17(a) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 - 1973 effective 1 July, 1992, the two external territories of Christmas Island and Cocos (Keeling) Islands now form part of geographic Australia.

The Jervis Bay Territory has always been a territory in its own right. However, prior to the enactment of self-government legislation for the ACT in 1988, it was linked to the ACT for certain administrative purposes by means of a coupling clause in the ACT legislation. Following self-government for the ACT, the ABS has agreed that the Jervis Bay Territory will no longer be included with the ACT for statistical purposes.

These three territories, Christmas Island, Cocos (Keeling) Islands, and Jervis Bay Territory, now comprise the ninth state/territory of Australia.

The third level units 1201, Christmas Island, and 1202, Cocos (Keeling) Islands are deleted from Minor Group 12, Australian External Territories. These are replaced by one third level unit, which incorporates the Jervis Bay Territory, which is added to Minor Group 11, Australia.

The revised structure of Minor Group 11, Australia, and Minor Group 12, Australian External Territories, is as follows:

11   Australia

    1101   New South Wales
    1102   Victoria
    1103   Queensland
    1104   South Australia
    1105   Western Australia
    1106   Tasmania
    1107   Northern Territory
    1108   Australian Capital Territory
    1109   Other Territories

12   Australian External Territories

    1203   Norfolk Island
    1299   Other Australian External Territories

The ISO does not assign codes to the Australian states and territories. In order to facilitate input processing of statistical collections, the ABS has assigned the code 998 to Other Territories from the list of ISO user-assigned codes.

OTHER AMENDMENTS

One further change of a less significant nature needs to be made to the ASCCSS. It is expedient to incorporate it into this revision.

Prussia

The Coding Index entry Prussia is incorrectly coded to 2504 - Poland in the ASCCSS. It should be coded to 2000 - Europe and the Former USSR not further defined.

IMPLEMENTATION

A specification of amendments required because of the changes outlined above is attached.

Although influenced by factors such as processing cycles, users are urged to implement the amendments detailed in this paper as soon as possible after the official ABS date of effect, which is the date of issue of this revision document. This will facilitate the maintenance of the ASCCSS as an Australian standard.

ELECTRONIC VERSION OF ASCCSS

All of the amendments detailed in this revision document have been incorporated into Version 1.03 of the ASCCSS on floppy disk (ABS Catalogue No. 1270.0).

ASCCSS REVISION 1.03

PART 1:   EXPLANATORY NOTES

The number of third level country units, stated on pages 4 and 5, has been revised to 251, including 3 residual categories. One unit was deleted upon the unification of Germany (see Revision 1.01), three units were added and one deleted in Revision 1.02, and eight units have been added and five deleted in this revision.

PART 2:   THE CLASSIFICATION STRUCTURE

Delete the country unit 2232, Yugoslavia, from Minor Group 22, Southern Europe (this country unit replaced the previous country unit 2212, Yugoslavia, in Revision 1.02). Add the country level units 2221 - Bosnia-Herzegovina, 2223 - Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, and 2233 - Former Yugoslav Republics of Serbia and Montenegro to Minor Group 22, Southern Europe. (Page 25.)

Delete the country unit 2502, Czechoslovakia, from Minor Group 25, Eastern Europe. Add the country units 2506 - Czech Republic, and 2507 - Slovak Republic to Minor Group 25, Eastern Europe. (Page 26.)

Delete the country unit 9206, Ethiopia, from Minor Group 92, Southern and East Africa. Add the country units 9226 - Eritrea, and 9227 - Ethiopia to Minor Group 92, Southern and East Africa. (Pages 53 and 54.)

Delete the third level units 1201, Christmas Island, and 1202, Cocos (Keeling) Islands, from Minor Group 12, Australian External Territories. Add the third level unit 1109 - Other Territories to Minor Group 11, Australia. (Page 21.)

PART 3:   CODING INDEXES

Coding Index: Alphabetical Order

Amendments because of changes in the former Yugoslavia

Coding Index entries previously coded to the former Yugoslavia (ASCCSS code 2232 and ISO code 993) are now coded to Bosnia-Herzegovina (ASCCSS code 2221 and ISO code 070), or Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia (ASCCSS code 2223 and ISO code 807), or Former Yugoslav Republics of Serbia and Montenegro (ASCCSS code 2233 and ISO code 997), or the Former Yugoslavia not further defined (ASCCSS code 2220 and ISO code 992). The entries affected and the amended codes are:

To avoid confusion between the new country of Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia and the Greek and Bulgarian regions of Macedonia, the following index entries, coded to FYROM, Greece or Bulgaria, are added to the Alphabetical Index:

61	2205	300	Aegean Macedonia
69	2223	807	Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
69	2223	807	FYROM

81	2223	807	Skopje
81	2223	807	Slav Macedonia

The provisional ISO codes allocated to Croatia and Slovenia in Revision 1.02 are replaced by their substantive codes. The alphabetical index should be amended as follows:

70	2221	070	Hercegovina

Amendments because of changes in the former Czech and Slovak Federal Republic

Coding Index entries previously coded to the former Czechoslovakia (ASCCSS code 2502 and ISO code 200) are now coded to Czech Republic (ASCCSS code 2506 and ISO code 203), or Slovak Republic (ASCCSS code 2507 and ISO code 703), or the Former Czechoslovakia not further defined (ASCCSS code 2502 and ISO code 200). The entries affected and amended are as follows:

63	2506	203	Bohemia
63	2506	203	Bohmen und Mahren

76	2506	203	Morava
76	2506	203	Moravia
82	2507	703	Slovakia

Add the index entry 'Former Czechoslovakia (not further defined)' (ASCCSS code 2502 and ISO code 200) on page 69.

Add the following index entries to the Alphabetical Index:

66	2506	203	Czech Republic
82	2507	703	Slovak Republic

Amendments because of changes in Ethiopia

Coding Index entries previously coded to the former Ethiopia (ASCCSS code 9206 and ISO code 230) are now coded to Eritrea (ASCCSS code 9226 and ISO code 232), or Ethiopia (ASCCSS code 9227 and ISO code 231), or Southern and East Africa not further defined (ASCCSS code 9200 and ISO code 956). The entries affected and the amended codes are:

68	9226	232	Eritrea
68	9227	231	Ethiopia
70	9227	231	Hebretesebawit Ityopia

The following index entries are deleted from the Alphabetical Index because they relate to a unit ('old' Ethiopia) no longer in existence and represent statistically insignificant numbers of responses in Australian statistical and administrative collections:

71	9227	231	Italian East Africa
86	9227	231	Yaitopya

Australian Territories

The status of several of Australia's external territories has changed. The territories of Christmas Island and Cocos (Keeling) Islands are now considered part of geographical Australia. The codes for these territories need to be amended to reflect this changed status. In addition, Jervis Bay is no longer part of the Australian Capital Territory. The entries affected and amended codes are:

71	1109	998	Jervis Bay
86	1109	998	Xmas Island

Prussia

The index entry Prussia was incorrectly coded to Poland on page 79 of the Alphabetical Coding Index. This entry should be coded to Europe and the Former USSR not further defined. The Alphabetical Coding Index should be amended as follows:

Amendments because of changes in Ethiopia

The amendments to Numerical Index entries necessary because of changes in Ethiopia are the same as those detailed for the Alphabetical Index. The index entries affected appeared on page 116 of the Numerical Coding Index but will now appear on pages 115 and 117. The correct order for these entries in the Numerical Index is now as follows:

Australian Territories

The amendments to Numerical Index entries necessary because of changes to Australia's External Territories and Jervis Bay are the same as those detailed for the Alphabetical Index. The index entries affected appeared on page 92 of the Numerical Coding Index. The correct order for these entries in the Numerical Index is now as follows:

ASCCSS Code	ISO Code	Index Entry
